Problem Statement

Many people have negative reactions to certain amounts of acidity in food and beverages such as coffee.

Conclusions

• No difference in pH between light and medium roasts
• Dark roast is less acidic
• Limited by instrument uncertainty – could be differences in pH less than 0.1
• More variables to test – Brand, Flavor, Country of Origin, Brewing Method, Caffeine Content